Jewellery sales for Sullivan's Heroes

A Turners Hill charity which provides grants to help families carry out vital home adaptations for disabled children has announced more dates for its popular jewellery sales.

Sullivan's Heroes will be selling the huge selection of former duty free jewellery generously donated by Scorpio Worldwide leading suppliers of jewellery and gifts to the travel retail industry.

There will also be a selection of cuddly toys and gifts for sale.

The charity thanked Scorpio Worldwide and its other sponsors – Infinity Print & Embroidery, Treetop Print and Design, Fastsigns Crawley plus East Grinstead branches of Wickes and Homebase who have most kindly donated all promotional material.

Sullivan's Heroes is named after Sullivan Smith and the charity was set up by his parents in his memory. When faced with little financial help to adapt their home to fulfil their son's needs, they felt moved to help others experiencing similar
